Executive Committee Speaks

Aarushi
(Vice President)

It has been phenomenal to see how much this club has grown this year compared to all the previous years. Had extreme fun working with my members who made every event not only possible but also fun.

Naman
(Head of PR)

The transition of yoga club's image in flame has been drastic. I am extremely proud of our team for the same. Talking off PR, We hit our all time monthly highest views on Instagram this year and also launched our newsletter.

Sharbani
(President)

During my tenure as President, I had the privilege of interacting with like-minded and ambitious individuals. I want to extend my heartfelt gratitude and congratulations to each and every member of the club for their dedication and enthusiasm. A special thanks to Farrokh Sir, whose unwavering support has been instrumental in making our events a reality, whether it was IH Yoga or Kurukshetra Yoga Competition. The FLAME Yoga Club has come a long way, and there is much more to achieve.

I would like to conclude with a quote from the Bhagavad Gita: _Yogah Karmasu Kaushalam_—which translates to Excellence in work is Yoga. This excellence is what I hope the club shall strive to achieve in the future.

Adit
(Secretary)

This year with the Yoga Club has been filled with early mornings, unexpected challenges, and plenty of growth. Organizing the first-ever Interhouse and Kurukshetra Yoga. From brainstorming new events to ensuring everything ran smoothly, it's been a journey of trial and error, teamwork, and valuable experiences.

Shreya
(Treasurer)

It was a lovely experience working with the yoga club, the amount of dedication and thought that has been put in behind each event is crazy! Can't wait for next year's events!

What our Mentors have to say

Dr. Farrokh
(Director of Sports)

I would like to congratulate the Yoga Club on their remarkable journey this year. Through their dedication, they have helped the FLAME community recognize the importance of yoga in building a healthier lifestyle by promoting physical well-being, mental clarity, and inner balance. Their efforts have inspired many to embrace yoga as a regular practice, fostering long-term wellness. The club also took a bold step by organizing the first-ever Yoga event at FLAME Kurukshetra 2025, marking their transition from recreational to competitive sports. This achievement reflects their commitment to promoting yoga as both a lifestyle and a discipline.

Kajol
(Faculty Adviser)

As this incredible year comes to a close, I want to take a moment to express how proud I am of each and every one of you. Your dedication, creativity, and passion have made this club truly special. From introducing new ideas to constantly pushing boundaries, you have shown just how talented and hardworking you are. It has been an absolute honor to serve as your advisor and witness your growth—not just as a club, but as individuals. The energy and enthusiasm you bring to every session and event have made this journey an unforgettable one. Thank you for your commitment and for making this such a rewarding experience. I can't wait to see what the future holds for this incredible team

From Asana to Arena: FLAME's Kurukshetra Finds Balance

FLAME University's annual sports fest, Kurukshetra, in the academic year 2024-25, took on a unique dimension with the inclusion of a rejuvenating Yoga Masterclass. Held on January 25th, 2025, at the Arjuna Sports Complex, this event, organized by FLAME University and the FLAME Yoga Club, offered a powerful start to the day for 75 participants spanning from UG1 to PG2.

The Kurukshetra Yoga Masterclass, commencing at 7 AM, was designed to foster movement, mindfulness, and a deeper connection to the practice of yoga. Led by the experienced Sanjay Sir, the session began with a revitalizing warm-up, preparing participants for a series of asanas that targeted various aspects of physical and mental well-being.

The flow included a diverse range of poses, such as Tadasana, Camel Pose, Cat-Cow Pose, Natrajasana, Balasana, Virabhadrasana, Trikonasana, Half-Spinal Twist, and Vrikshasana. Each asana was carefully selected to enhance strength, flexibility, and balance, promoting holistic physical development.

However, the session transcended mere physical exercise. Sanjay Sir emphasized the importance of mindfulness and self-awareness, guiding participants to focus on their breath and cultivate mental clarity. This focus on the mind-body connection resonated deeply with the participants, highlighting the transformative power of yoga beyond its physical benefits.

The enthusiastic participation from the FLAME community was truly inspiring. The eagerness to embrace yoga as a tool for holistic well-being was palpable, demonstrating the growing interest in practices that promote both physical and mental health.

The Kurukshetra Yoga Masterclass provided a space for students to connect, move, and find tranquility amidst the bustling energy of the sports fest. This morning of movement, mindfulness, and community spirit was a valuable addition to Kurukshetra, reinforcing the importance of holistic well-being within the university's vibrant culture.

A Battle of Balance and Breath- Yoga makes its debut in Kurukshetra!

For the first time ever! Yoga has made its way to FLAME's very own, very special Kurukshetra!

Introduced as a competitive sport with 10 participants from colleges and institutes all across Pune, the event was truly memorable. Yoga as a competitive discipline highlights individual strength, flexibility, and mental focus, making it a noteworthy addition.

Our judges Dr. Shwetambari Chothe from Swasti Yoga Center and Mrs. Prajakta Bharadwaj with their keen eyes and extensive knowledge assessed the participants on the basis of balance, endurance, and precision. As the event moved forward participants were either eliminated or continued on with the difficulty of the asanas increasing steadily. Starting with asanas such as Garudasana, Natarajasana, and Chakrasana and ending with the astonishingly graceful display of Kakasana, Sirsasana, and Eka Pada Sirasana.

The skill showcased by all participants was remarkable and left the audience in awe. Murmurs in praise of their mastery and remarks like "How are they doing that?!", "This is so cool!" filled the room with energy. After an intense competition, our talented FLAME students Prajwalitha Nerella and Neha Poorana secured the 1st and runner-up positions respectively. Naveen Ladha from Symbiosis Institute of Technology with his incredible exhibit of the rigour of Yoga bagged the position of second runner-up.

Enthusiasm throughout the event along with the inspiring performances was a captivating sight. This event was beyond a competition, for the Yoga Club it held immense importance. It was a celebration of the art of yoga and served as a chance to bring forth its benefits. This marked the beginning of a new era for yoga at FLAME, one that we cherish dearly and will continue to work towards.

Sunset Yoga: A Workshop for Period Pain Relief

FLAME Yoga Club, in collaboration with Project Impact, hosted a Period Pain Workshop – Sunset Yoga at the Conditioning Studio in Arjuna. The session focused on using movement, breathing, and mindfulness to manage menstrual cramps naturally.

The workshop began with a discussion on menstrual health, exploring the causes of period pain and simple, effective ways to relieve discomfort without medication. Participants shared their experiences, making the session interactive and supportive.

The session started with centering and OM chants, followed by a gentle warm-up, including Shashankasana, Cat-Cow Posture, and Malasana. These movements helped release tightness and prepare the body for the next phase of the practice. Surya Namaskar transitioned the session into a dynamic flow, stimulating circulation and preparing the body for a series of asanas focused on easing cramps and tension.

The session then focused on restorative asanas that directly support pain relief. Supta Baddha Konasana promoted circulation and eased PMS symptoms, while Wide-Legged Balasana helped release tension in the back, spine, and neck. Supta Matsyendrasana, a supine spinal twist, reduced cramps and brought a sense of calm. Setu Bandhasana, or Bridge Pose, alleviated heaviness in the legs and released built-up tension, and Ananda Balasana, opened the hips, stretched the lower back, and eased stress. As participants moved through each pose, they were encouraged to listen to their bodies, adjusting as needed to find comfort and relief. Many appreciated the asanas that they could integrate into their routines.

As the sun set, the practice concluded with deep breathing and stillness, allowing participants to absorb the effects of the session. The workshop not only provided physical relief but also reframed menstrual health as something to approach with care, movement, and mindfulness.

Yoga, Smiles, and Endless Giggles : A Joyful Yoga Session with Balbhavan Kids

On the 28th of March, the FLAME Yoga Club, in collaboration with The Story Project, hosted a Fun Yoga Session for the children of Balbhavan. From 12 PM to 1 PM, the session was filled with laughter, energy, and a newfound appreciation for yoga. The session started with Om chanting, setting a peaceful and focused tone for the kids. Guided by enthusiastic facilitators, the children eagerly participated in a series of engaging asanas, including Balasana, Malasana, all four variations of the Palm Tree Pose, Vrikshasana, Toe Touching and Stretching, and Bhadrasana. Each pose was introduced in a playful and interactive manner, making yoga an enjoyable experience rather than just a practice.

As the session progressed, the children's excitement grew, and they embraced the challenges of each asana with determination and joy. Their bright smiles and giggles were a testament to the happiness that yoga brought them. Ending with another round of Om chanting, the session left everyone feeling refreshed and connected.

The event was not just about teaching yoga—it was about fostering mindfulness, relaxation, and a sense of well-being among the young participants. The FLAME Yoga Club and TSP successfully introduced yoga as a fun and accessible practice, leaving a lasting impact on these little ones. With this heartwarming initiative, yoga continues to spread its wings, touching lives one asana at a time!

The Final Yoga Masterclass: A Bridge Between the Past and Present

Students at FLAME create unforgettable memories, from nightly runs to the constore to sports classes in Arjuna. These experiences become cherished long after graduation, forming a deep bond with the campus. The final yoga masterclass of the year, taking place on April 20th in collaboration with the Alumni Relations Office, offers a chance to relive these moments. Conducted by a FLAME alumnus, the session will bring together past and present members of the community in a shared experience that will be filled with nostalgia and contentment.

The session will begin with three chants of 'Om,' setting an atmosphere of mindfulness. A warm-up sequence featuring Shashankasana, Cat-Cow Posture, the Greatest Stretch, and Malasana will ease participants into movement before they transition into four rounds of Surya Namaskar, awakening both body and mind. The practice will then flow into a series of asanas, including Vakrasana, Setu Bandhasana, Gomukhasana, Janu Sirsasana, and Ardha Kapotasana, each offering a blend of strength, flexibility, and relaxation.

To conclude, the session will focus on Pranayama, specifically Anulom Vilom, guiding participants into deep relaxation with Shavasana. The session will end with the collective chanting of 'Om' and 'Shanti' three times. With a podium ensuring visibility for all, the experience will be seamless and immersive.

As the masterclass series draws to a close, it reaffirms that yoga is for all ages—a practice that evolves alongside us, offering balance and clarity at every stage of life. More than a routine, it is a means of connection—across time, space, and generations.

From Recreation to Competition: The Evolution of Yoga at FLAME

What started as a recreational pursuit at FLAME University has now transformed into a competitive individual sport, marking a significant milestone in the journey of our yoga club. This shift was celebrated with our first-ever Interhouse Yoga Competition, an electrifying event that blended yoga and dance, creating an experience that was both artistic and athletic. The competition was a resounding success, bringing together passionate participants who showcased their strength, flexibility, and creativity.

Taking this competitive spirit further, we proudly hosted a yoga competition at Kurukshetra, FLAME's annual fest. This event highlighted the growing recognition of yoga as a dynamic sport, drawing enthusiastic competitors who pushed their limits to demonstrate balance, endurance, and artistry.

The success of these events was amplified by the club's outstanding public relations efforts on social media, which led to a surge in engagement, visibility, and participation. Our content resonated deeply with the community, making the club's presence stronger than ever.

Another landmark achievement came in the Second Term Masterclass, where a record-breaking 350 participants attended — the highest turnout in the club's history. This milestone is a testament to the increasing enthusiasm for yoga and the efforts of the team in making each session impactful and engaging.

From casual practice to competitive excellence, our club continues to redefine boundaries, and this is just the beginning of a new era for yoga at FLAME!

Strong mind, strong body—yoga is the bridge between the two

In today's fast-paced world, mental health is just as important as physical well-being. Stress, anxiety, and academic pressure are common challenges faced by students, making it crucial to find effective ways to maintain balance. Yoga, an ancient practice rooted in mindfulness and self-awareness, offers a holistic approach to mental well-being.

Yoga helps regulate stress hormones, enhances mood, and promotes relaxation. Simple asanas like Sukhasana (Easy Pose) and Balasana (Child's Pose) calm the nervous system, while Pranayama (breath control) techniques such as Anulom Vilom (alternate nostril breathing) improve focus and emotional stability. These practices help students develop resilience against stress, ultimately improving concentration and academic performance.

Moreover, meditation, an integral part of yoga, fosters mindfulness by bringing attention to the present moment. Regular meditation enhances self-awareness, reduces anxiety, and cultivates a positive outlook on life. Research suggests that just a few minutes of daily meditation can significantly lower cortisol levels, the hormone responsible for stress.

Our college's Yoga Club aims to promote mental well-being through guided yoga sessions, mindfulness workshops, and group discussions. By integrating yoga into daily routines, students can build a strong foundation for long-term mental wellness. Whether you are a beginner or an experienced practitioner, yoga offers a safe space to reconnect with yourself and find inner peace.

Join us in embracing yoga as a tool for mental health and overall well-being.

Together, let's create a campus environment that prioritizes mindfulness and self-care.

Thank You
